- Promotes a strong immune system
- Sourced from rBST-free dairy cows
- Provides 17 g of protein per scoop

Build Muscle Mass and More

Over time, it is important to maintain muscle mass and a healthy immune system. But not all proteins are the same. Whey protein is a good source of branched-chain amino acids (BCAAs), immunoglobins and other health-promoting compounds. Our Wellness Code® Advanced Whey Protein Isolate helps support building lean muscle mass with a great vanilla flavor and no wasted calories because it contains no added sugar.

Product Details

Wellness Code® Whey Protein Isolate comes from cows that are never treated with growth hormones. This delicious, vanilla-flavored powdered protein shake mix delivers 17 grams of protein with lower carbs, lactose and fat than whey concentrate, plus high levels of essential branched-chain amino acids (BCAAs) in every scoop.

As we age, maintaining healthy muscle mass and immune system health becomes more and more important.<sup>1,2</sup> Fortunately, whey protein can help you build muscle, and it supports immune health because it's packed with BCAAs, immunoglobins and other health-promoting compounds.<sup>3-5</sup>

Protein isolate (lower in carbs, lactose and fat)

Whey protein isolate is lower in carbohydrates, lactose and fat than whey protein concentrate. Wellness Code® Whey Protein Isolate has undergone a process called cross-flow microfiltration, which produces an isolate that is 90% protein—98% of it in the bioavailable undenatured form—and retains all important subfractions in their natural ratios.

Non-GMO
